TOPIC: Bye-bye Boomers

Baby boomers, those born between and 1943 and 1964, are retiring in record numbers. Those that are continuing to work are willingly taking demotions to less-stressful jobs. The result can be chaos as older workers now report to younger workers with different styles of management, methods of accomplishing goals, ways to communicate, and processes for decision making. Learn how to handle these situations and how to develop a success plan to intelligently refill the positions and brain-drain left by the vanishing boomers. OCEDC Board Member Rick Weaver will be our presenter.
